IT'S TIME TO PLAY OUTSIDE!

Kave Magazine N°6

With the arrival of good weather, we like to spend more time away from home, and if it's outside, even better. Therefore, we present what your terrace, garden or balcony was waiting for. And of course, you too.

Artisan Imperfection is the new SS20 collection from Kave Home, where craftsmanship is the star and is present in each of the imperfect pieces forming it, which are completely handmade of course! This season, the Kave Trends team, aware of sustainability, is committed to noble and eco materials, using artisan techniques to design them.

SS20

Artisan imperfection

A shared sunset, enjoy
the little things and moments that, if they are spent with yours,
are much better,
because that is what really matters.

The good weather has come to stay and where better to start than away from home.

Artisan Imperfection is here to stay.
The imperfect is valued because it is made with the hands and this ultimately makes it unique and teaches us that imperfections are beautiful. In this collection, quality, durability, sustainability and design
make these pieces that are created in workshops using traditional techniques. We want to be part of your home, but responsibly and aware of what is really worth it.

Discover the colour palette of Artisan Imperfection, where earth tones, such as terracotta, predominate. Mustards are in too and black is still on trend.
Moreover, materials such as wood, leather, rope and the use of natural fibres are what we have chosen for the pieces that form this collection.
We also use artisan and fully visible techniques such as braiding.

The legs also have an original design of pieces made with the same type of wood and finish, placed one by one. The wood has the FLEGT certificate, so it is also eco-friendly as it comes from a responsible felling and sustainable forests. A unique and authentic piece like you.

You can decide whether the centrepiece of your living room crosses over to the dark side, to create a black

DESIGN IN HOUSE CARLOS GUIJARRO

To create the structure of the pieces, manual joinery techniques have been used, such as wood steam bending. The seat, chair and stool are hand braided by combining round and flat rope, for a more uniform and stable tie.

A collection created for Kave people.

The Sheryl collection came up with the idea of creating a selection of very organic and versatile pieces. A creation with designer Carlos Guijarro, where everything is designed to reflect your personality with an iconic design.

Chloé Sucrée

Serilda serving board - 19€
Naara bowl - 7€
Callhan set 2 bowls - 15€

Chloé Sucrée (@beingbiotiful) is the founder of the healthy eating blog, Being Biotiful, an entrepreneurial mum with thousands of followers on her networks who has revolutionised the world of healthy eating. One of her dreams was to be able to open a space where she could offer 100% seasonal and vegetarian meals. This is how Le Biotiful Pot was created, a beautiful restaurant of vegetarian food to take away in Barcelona. A space decorated with a lot of taste and style. Shall we go in?

Le Biotiful Pot was created a year ago, when Chloé met Katie, her friend and colleague in this project, and from the word go they knew they wanted to do something together. They define their style as simple, comfortable and very practical. Just like using quality, organic and seasonal ingredients, it also made sense for them to choose noble, natural and sustainable materials for their new space.

Their favourite materials are marble, wood and cement.

The Aya solid wood table is a must for their kitchen. For Chloé and Katie it's essential to have a good wooden board for chopping, cutting or presenting their dishes.

If we talk about colours, we see that they also play a great role in decoration. They opt for colours that convey calm. The new Zain green bowl is 100% ceramic and has a design of irregular shapes. Mint green is a colour that combines perfectly with white tones and natural products, so they couldn't have chosen a better option.

The furniture surrounding you is also very important, as there is nothing better than sitting comfortably to enjoy a good meal. For their space, they were very clear that the furniture had to be made of wood and combined with light colours.

The Nolite stool has a simple design and rounded shapes. Its mustard upholstery provides the elegance they are looking for. Here you have a clear example of "less is more".

The Tressia chair, made from solid rubber wood, has been chosen to surround the table. They have also dared to combine different models of chairs: the Tressia chair and the Nina chair is the perfect match for this space. When Chloé saw the Nina chair, she knew it had to be in Le Biotiful Pot. For her, this is the best piece.

If you liked the décor and furniture that they have chosen for this project, here's the selection to inspire you.
